Questions for Erin Brady

- Cindy: How might we make applications more useable for people that are blind? I've heard of using screen readers but how might we be able to better accommodate these needs?
- Maggie: How do the perceptions of disabilities on social media affect the tools you build for them?
- Katie: Have you noticed any cultural implications on the way those with disabilities interact with technology and social media around the world?
- Bria: What is the most inaccessible program or device you have worked to fix? How did you do it?
- Talia: How did your experience in India change the way in which you view accessibility and approach UX problems? Do you find that most US created web applications are not catered to diversity?
